SCHOOL of LAW

Pro Humanitate.

It's a small motto with big ambition. And like our motto, Wake Forest Law is a small school that unlocks great potential in those with big ambition.

But how does a small place let you do big things?
It's not by accident. It's by design.

IT STARTS WITH BEING SEEN

As a first-year law student, you'll find yourself in a section with about 45 other students, far fewer than the national average. This small setting leaves space for big questions, encourages honest discussion, and fosters inventive thinking. It's also a better way to learn the law.

Our faculty are not only world-renowned scholars and advocates, they are thoughtful educators, who are committed to a deeply personal and relationship-driven legal education. They are experts of both familiar and cutting-edge areas of the law, and in your classroom they will know you and call you by name.

We strive to create an environment that is as rich and varied as the world in which you will practice. More voices mean more perspectives that empower everyone to arrive at a deeper understanding of the law and each other.

Our Student Affairs Office supports dozens of social, cultural, and intellectual student organizations, and you are encouraged to participate, whether that's as an active member, an advocate, or an ally. Do you have something new to bring to the table? We're game to new ideas and always here to help.

IT CALLS FOR ACTION

Pro humanitate is not just some Latin we throw around to sound fancy. It means "for humanity," and it's at the heart of what we do.

Our Pro Bono Project is not just active, it's thriving, and you will hit the ground running your first year with opportunities to help the local community get the high-quality, low-cost legal services they need. Pick a project that matches your passion.

Practice makes perfect, and experience will shape your education from the very beginning. There are lots of opportunities to connect what you learn to what you want to do.

LAW CLINICS

Sharpen your skills by working directly to advise or represent real clients under the supervision of a faculty member in one of our legal clinics. You'll be surprised what you'll learn when you try something new.

- Appellate Advocacy
- Environmental Law & Policy
- Innocence & Justice
- Intellectual Property Law
- Medical-Legal Partnership
- Veterans Legal Clinic

EXTERNSHIPS

Take part in real practice under the supervision of a licensed attorney anywhere in the U.S. while earning school credit. You can choose from established programs or create your own experience in the location of your choice.

ADVOCACY TEAMS

Hone your courtroom craft by joining one of our nationally recognized trial teams or by finding your voice in moot court. You'll become a pro at professionalism and teamwork at no extra charge.

NORTH CAROLINA BUSINESS COURT

Go beyond theory and witness real court proceedings right outside your classroom. The School of Law houses one of four North Carolina Business Courts, and students are encouraged to attend sessions in this modern, state-of-the-art facility dubbed "the courtroom of the future."

IT'S LOVING WHERE YOU LIVE

THE BEST OF BOTH WORLDS

Wake Forest Law occupies its own building on the Wake Forest campus, and you also have full access to all Wake Forest University amenities, including a state-of-the-art fitness facility, award-winning dining halls, the Thrive Wellbeing Center, and more.

WINSTON-SALEM: A small city with big personality

Just a five minute drive from campus, the heart of downtown Winston-Salem is home to dozens of locally owned restaurants, coffee shops, craft breweries, and art galleries.

Known as the "City of Arts and Innovation," Winston, as the locals call it, is a vibrant community that boasts big city perks with a small town feel. It's the perfect size to balance a rigorous academic life with an enriching social life—and it's an amazing place to call a second home.

Scan the code and get to know Winston-Salem a little better. We think you two are really going to like each other.
